DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Kuznetsov (2002/0196548).

Kuznetsov teaches an optical system comprising a curved micro-electro-mechanical (MEMS) mirror comprising: a mirror layer comprising a frame and at least one mirror movably coupled to the frame; an actuation layer disposed adjacent the mirror layer comprising at least one actuator coupled to the mirror for controllably moving the mirror (paragraph 176); the mirror having a maximum dimension less than 3000 micrometers and a radius of curvature less than 200 millimeters. (e.g., figs 1-2, 18-19, 33; paragraphs 176-180).

Thus claim 1 is met.

Kuznetsov teaches the optical system of claim 1 wherein the actuator comprises an electromechanical actuator. (e.g., paragraph 71). Thus claim 2 is met.

Kuznetsov teaches the optical system of claim 1 wherein the maximum dimension is less than 1000 micrometers and the radius of curvature is less than 80 millimeters. (e.g., figs.1-2). Thus claim 3 is met.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 4-6, 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kuznetsov (2002/0196548).

Kuznetsov teaches a metal coated substrate (i.e., optical membrane or device layer 211). (See: paragraphs 176, 179).

Although Kuznetsov does not explicitly state "the substrate having a thickness in the range 0.1-40 micrometers and the metal coating having a thickness in the range 5 nanometers to 5 micrometers" it would have been obvious to do so because it is notoriously well known (NWK) for such structures to have parameters in the said ranges. Thus claim 4 is rejected.

Furthermore, although Kuznetsov does not make the exact statements as those in claims 5-6, it would have been obvious to do so because it is NWK to use the materials stated in claims 5-6 as stated in claims 5-6 in the elements of the referenced Kuznetsov invention. Thus claims 5-6 are rejected.

Furthermore each and every element of claim 8 is rendered obvious because it is notoriously well known (NWK) that the metal coating and the substrate used in such structures have coefficients of thermal expansion that differ by, e.g., more than a factor of 2. Thus claim 8 is rejected.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 9-13 are allowed.

Claims 7, 14 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
